PIKEVILLE COLLEGE
PIKEVILLE, KY

Students, faculty, administration, alumni—the sum of a world within a world—are the ever-changing components of an academic community.

People and buildings are undergoing constant change and continual weathering. Fall, winter, spring and summer pass and pass again to add one more year to those already gone. Ephemeral seasons are the measurers of time—not the measurers of the aspirations of individuals or of the development of an institution.

Fifty years from now, influences currently at work in our college community will have run their course—and made their changes. The institution will have been revitalized by these changes. All tomorrows are affected by the events of today in

A Season Of

To everything there is a season . . .

—Ecclesiastes 3:1

Intellectual Awakening

Man's mind is a fascinating machine. It is oiled with knowledge and kept in working condition by stimulation. There can be no limit to the mind's capacity if man, in his seasons of growth, is able to realize its potential.

If a man be willing to acknowledge his resources, he will discover himself; and in so doing, find a "brave, new world."

And Individual Discovery

*When the legends die,
the dreams end.
When the dreams end,
there is no more greatness.*

—Hal Borland

Love

You are the beautiful half of a golden hurt.

—Gwendolyn Brooks

Love is a season eternal—changing with the whim of the heart as the wind moves the heat of the earth. It is more the giving of oneself than the finding of another. Love's dream is not realized in idealistic hoping. No, it is much more. Love's dream is reality.

But there's nothing half so sweet as Love's young dream.

—Sir Thomas Moore

Friendship

Saying hello, exchanging ideas, lending books, borrowing them, playing pool—all these are but the superficial signs of that cherished but illusory quality—friendship. More important than all of them is the silent support given in time of need.

Your friend is your needs answered.

—Kahlil Gibran

And Relaxation

The Masses

In the midst of minds, there may arise an idea so formidable that it encompasses the universe. With this hope, no people are ever lost.

Solitude

I cannot dream my dreams nor build my world without time unto myself.

Founders' Day

Marking a new tradition for Pikeville College's Founders' Day were the canoe races. Initiated by the Student Council to honor the inauguration of Dr. Johns, these races drew entries from various campus organizations. Although the weather had muddied the Levisa, the water gladly welcomed the canoers.

Honoring Pikeville College's tenth president, Dr. Thomas H. Johns, was an art exhibit which featured the talent of the college's art department. Under the direction of art instructor Tom Butcher displays were set up to give the public some idea of the abilities of the students, and also to recognize the beginning of new things for Pikeville.

It was truly a world within a world as Founders' Day saw an old Pikeville tradition of open-house modernized through the eyes of the Hippie. The Hippie presented her corridor as a world of constant doubt, while only a few stairs away, the Creole danced to the tune of the Mardi Gras and the Parisian strolled through the Champs-Elysees.

College open-house has been a welcomed event at Pikeville because it not only gives the women residents a chance to compete for prizes in theme decorations, but also open-house at any college means clean house.

A Presidential Inauguration

Registering delegates and lining the procession were the culmination of months of work and preparation for the inauguration of Dr. Thomas H. Johns, tenth President of Pikeville College.

An assembly of over 200 delegates from other colleges, universities and learned societies were present in addition to college faculty members, guests, members of the student body and attending newsmen for the inauguration which signaled the beginning of a new era for Pikeville College.

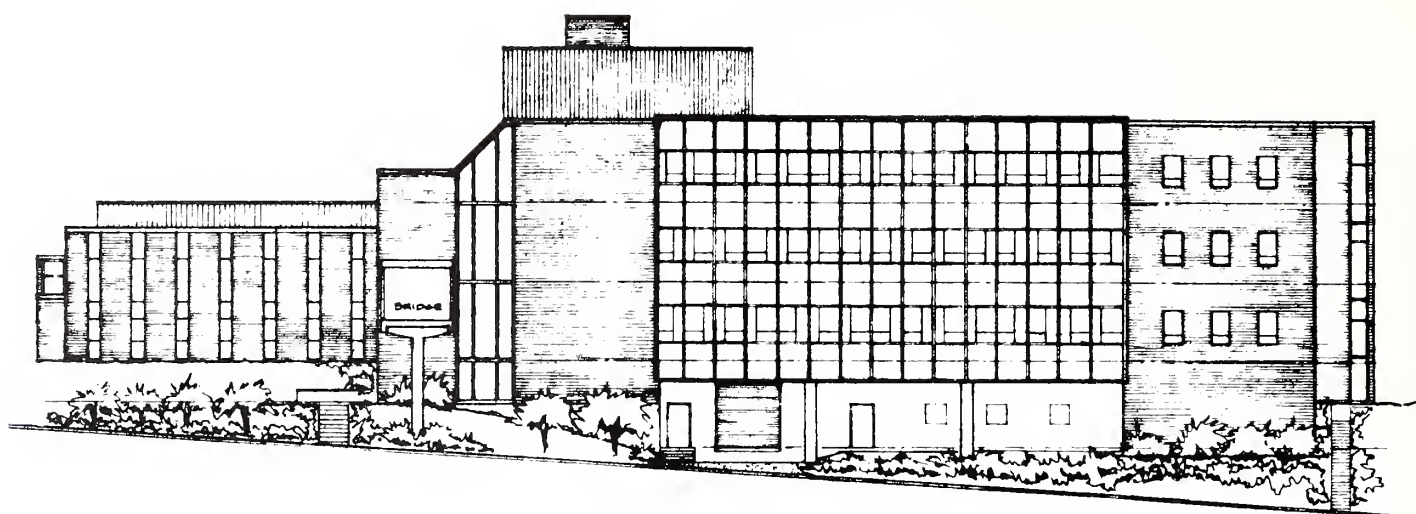

"For the Memory of the past serves the present only if it lifts the present above the record of the past . . . Tomorrow is ours if we think not of survival but of sacrifice, think not of existence but encounter, and if we think not of self but service."

These words are only a part of the challenge offered by Dr. Thomas H. Johns following his installment by Norman A. Chrisman, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

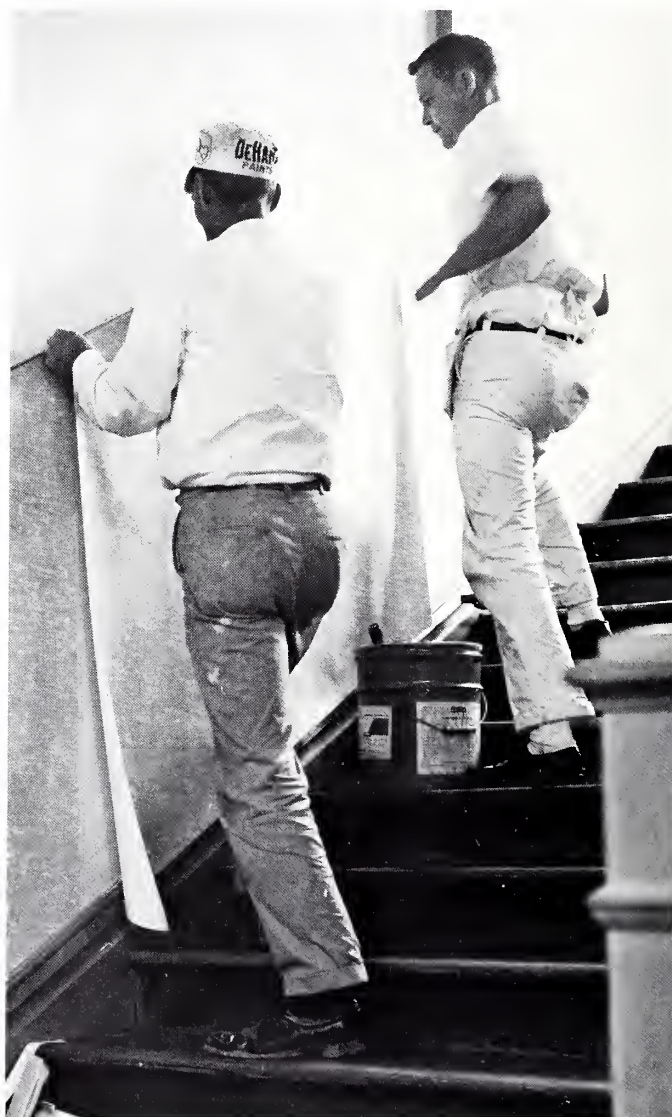

PROPOSED SCIENCE BUILDING

Progress And Change

With increasing enrollment, Pikeville College is in need of more and better classroom facilities. In trying to meet this need, a two and one-half million dollar science building has been approved for construction. It is expected to look somewhat like the picture above.

The addition of newer facilities has also pointed out a need for renovating the old. The campus has been landscaped by experienced people and paneling, carpeting and refurnishing have been completed in the administration building.

The city of Pikeville, through the efforts of its mayor, William C. Hambley, was designated as one of the 63 "Model Cities" throughout the United States. Reaping the benefits from the award, the college will be integrally involved with the city in carrying out the proposals.

The Model City Program, as the Mayor envisions it, will encompass the idea of a total education in its broadest and most liberal sense.

Among the new buildings expected to be erected on campus to meet the needs of an enlarging resident student body is the proposed apartment-like building which will accommodate 144 women.

The perennial parking problem worsens as the college experiences growth pains and more and more automobiles make their appearance on campus.

FACULTY AND STAFF

Dr. Thomas H. Johns

President of Pikeville College

The growth of an institution is determined not only by the number and excellence of its students but also by the amount of financial support given to it. Actively involved in obtaining increased financial aid for better facilities are Dr. Johns, Vice-President Skelly and Congressman Carl Perkins, representative for Kentucky's Seventh Congressional District. Congressman Perkins who is chairman of the House Subcommittee on Education has been working diligently with educators in Kentucky and elsewhere for needed improvements in the field.

John Skelly
Vice-President in Charge of Development

Congressman Perkins meets with Dr. Johns and Vice-President Skelly in Washington to discuss impending problems.

I am the Bird of Paradise—I am, I am!

Remember that young-blood feeling?? It must have gone with good ole days.

Do they or don't they—only their union knows for sure!!

I sit high up on my shelf and ponder the destruction of my posterior . . .
Knowing that the floor is getting nearer.

Class of 1971

Yeah, Yeah! And where have I heard this before???

In all my life's work I have found that It is better to wear out one's talents rather than let them rust out.

—Bishop Richard Cumberland

ORGANIZATIONS

Condit-Derriana

Working to establish good rapport in the Residence Halls is a major job, and one that needs sincere and capable leaders. The Women's Residence Government (WRG) of Condit-Derriana saw hard work pay off for them when new hours were established for women's housing. Under the leadership of President Donna Sanza and the Judiciary Council, other governing policies were also established.

The Men's residence hall Wickham-Memorial, also saw new ideas for housing government being introduced. Along with the traditional monitors, as pictured below, the men voted for the adoption of a resident government similar to that of WRG.

Wickham-Memorial

The Highlander

Knowing that there can be no substitute for memories, the 1967-68 HIGHLANDER staff labored in earnest dedication to preserve the best of the year.

The Staff

Yearbook seminar sponsored by the HIGHLANDER

The editors and staff of the HIGHLANDER concern themselves with ideas that will aid in the development of a good-looking book. By "good-looking" they mean a book that will honestly depict for its owner a fruitful story of that year at PC. The writers of the HIGHLANDER know that without an interested student body there can be no book at all.

Pikeville College's year book staff and advisors serve in various capacities. They not only take pictures, arrange them, and write copy, but they assist high schools with the edition of their books. The above picture shows members of the HIGHLANDER staff and high school students relaxing for a moment at the annual seminar sponsored yearly by Taylor Publishing Company and Pikeville College.

"To Put the Pike in Print"

The newspaper business is not always the easiest, but it is certainly one of the most interesting. Serving as the voice of Pikeville College, THE RECORD gave its editors and staff a chance to explore this field of journalistic communication.

The 1967-68 RECORD had the honor of being the first on-campus newspaper in over eight years. It was a realization of the efforts of Editor George Howell, Advisors Alvin Stinnett and Sara Franks, and PC president, Dr. Thomas Johns. Through the work and ambitions of an interested staff, THE RECORD made its primary objective that of serving the community of Pikeville College.

The Record

The Editors

International Relations Club

An improvement in understanding our world through the study of current events is what the International Relations Club members are seeking. This organization has the responsibility of keeping Pikeville College abreast of the ideas, opinions, and conflicts of the modern world. One of IRC's functions is providing speakers on current topics of interest for PC convocations.

Alpha Phi Gamma

Alpha Phi Gamma was established in 1966 under the sponsorship of J. Layne Tackett, Assistant Professor of English, to honor all outstanding student journalists at Pikeville College. Acknowledging its responsibility as an honor society, Alpha Phi Gamma members are interested in promoting the best interests of collegiate journalism.

Members of the society, which is now under the sponsorship of Mrs. Sara Franks, include: George Howell, Beverly Kilgore, Shelby Stanley, Carol May, Elaine Battistello, Roger Canupp, Donna Sanza, Daryl Easterling, Bonnie West, Wayne Shannon, and Sue Huffman.

Phi Alpha Theta

One of the largest organizations on PC's campus is the professional society of Phi Alpha Theta. An honorary history society, it was established to honor outstanding students in that field.

Phi Alpha Theta boasts as its main objective the promotion of history by improving the quality of historical scholarship. Seeking to encourage the exchange of ideas, Phi Alpha Theta members are ever growing, ever learning, and ever improving the interpretation of facts for the betterment of humanity.

Seated: Shirley Sexton, Terry Hilsheimer, Iris Hindman, Carol May, Ann Powers, Patricia Bartley, Miss Stella Elkins, advisor, Donna Sanza; Standing: Eleanor Craig, Jesse Bragg, Kenneth Kinder, George Howell, president, James Culton, Kenton Wallace, Elaine Battistello, Rita Hatfield, Steve Leach, H. S. FitzGerald, Robert Orser, Dr. Calvin Jones, and Nina Branham.

Alpha Mu Gamma

Established in 1966 to honor all high ranking students of foreign language and those faculty members who profess an interest in the languages, Alpha Mu Gamma is a PC diplomat in that it tries to provide a comfortable environment for foreign students on campus.

Working as a nationally recognized society, the Delta Beta Chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma sponsors National Foreign Language Week for Pikeville College, bringing into focus prominent works and ideas of different countries. It is the attitude of the society that world peace can be established through a better understanding between peoples.

Darlington Science Club

You had better believe that it is interesting—in fact all science, explored and unexplored, is to the members of Darlington Science Club. The realm of life is DSC's boundary for the studies of people interested in scientific adventures.

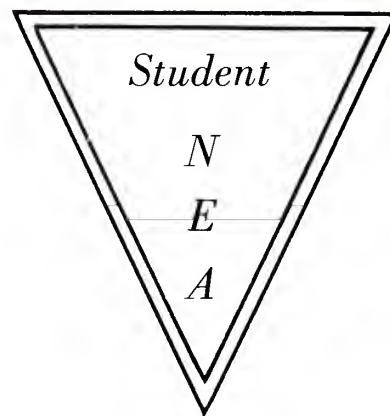

The Darlington Science Club involves itself with nature in all forms. One of its chief focal points is a nature study trip to Cranberry Boggs, W. Va. The club is also an important factor in the make-up of the Pike County Science Fair held for the area high schools. Being interested in all aspects of the scientific world, the DSC is quite instrumental in involving PC with scientific progress.

SNEA

The Student National Education Association (SNEA) of Pikeville College is primarily interested in helping all those students who profess a desire to enter the educational field realize the importance of their job choice. Affiliated with the National Educational Association, SNEA keeps its members abreast of the ever-changing world of educational ideas.

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda is perhaps better known to the Pikeville College campus as the Business Club. Although it did not receive its national charter until the Fall of 1967, Phi Beta Lambda is the largest honor society on the PC campus. Instrumental in helping its members realize more quality in their professional aptitude, the Business Club is composed of all students who wish to go into the business world and those instructors who show their interest. Pikeville College is honored in having such an outstanding organization as Phi Beta Lambda on its campus.

Circle

Seated: Tommy Woofter, President, Jimmy England, Jack Stanley, Bobby Cunningham, Jerome Heil, Bob Allen; Standing: Philip Vinciguerra, advisor, Stanley Johnson, Lou Pierallini, Victor Grasso, Robert Bevins, Phil Flanary, Tom Tryon.

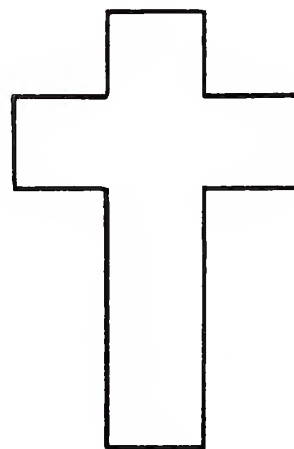

PC's Circle-K Club might well have as its motto, "Service, Fun, Fellowship." These words indeed give a true picture of what the club is like. Circle-K's activities range from sponsoring an annual Christmas Party for needy children to choosing college Sweethearts to planning entertainment for charity. One of the main highlights of the year at PC is the Circle-K initiation that truly separates the boys from the men. However, all year is the season for new ideas when the Circle-K group is in on the plans.

Student Christian Fellowship

Man is continuously searching for the answer to many questions. One of these questions is "How to find myself?" The seasons of thought are fruitful in the time when harvest is concerned with seeds of religion and Our Saviour. Being a church-affiliated institution, Pikeville College is vitally concerned with its students finding the right answer to their questions. Pikeville College hopes that through the work of Student Christian Fellowship, students will learn that one finds himself through Christ.

P. O. P.

"The work was hard, but oh, the results were good to see!" And this is the summation of the year for Peach Orchard Players, better known as POP. This organization produced two three-act plays, and in its spare time, established an experimental theater in PC's old training school. Perhaps one of the biggest inspirations for all of this hard work is Miss Linya Howe, who has been a member of POP each of her four years at PC. She has been outstanding in her endeavors to make drama an important part of life, not only on PC's campus, but in the whole of Pike county.

M.E.N.C.

The Musical Educators National Conference (MENC) of Pikeville College plays an important part in the promotion of musical development. Composed of music majors, MENC is interested in improving the teaching of music in surrounding schools. However, all is not work in MENC. There is the fun of trips to such places as Louisville. MENC also sponsored, along with the other members of the music department, the prize winning float in 1968's Homecoming Parade. Their float featured the old Mississippi steamboat.

Concert Band

Thoroughly realizing the change of its position, Pikeville College's Concert Band is ever proving that our hills are indeed "alive with music." Interested in improving the musical sense of the surrounding area, the concert band boasts of the talents of its drum major, Randy Newsom, of its majorettes, Sharon Hatton and Ann Ewers, and of its Brass Ensemble.

Goodwill Exchange

One of the hardest working assets of Pikeville College is the Concert Choir. Helping to promote good will toward Pikeville with their lovely songs, the choir's members were toasted for their hard work with an honor banquet this year. The Concert Choir helps to take a little of Pikeville College to every city visited, and in turn, they bring a little of each visited city back to Pikeville.

Important on the list of cities visited during the annual Concert Choir tour was Philadelphia. Being honored with the name of smallest model city, Pikeville was fortunate in having such outstanding representatives in Philadelphia, the largest model city. Earnest in its endeavors, the Concert Choir performed with quality and with intentions of leaving some of the ideas of Pikeville forever with the Philadelphians and others.

Being in the Concert Choir does not mean that you are always at work. On the contrary, there are special arrangements to conduct, bells to ring, and boxes that must be handled with care. The musically inclined are too often just "inclined."

Physical Education Majors Club

Education does not stop with the training of the mind but extends to the development of the body to its fullest capacity of performance. This is the main reason that Pikeville College's Physical Education Majors are forever hard at work to develop better ideas for the teaching of physical education. It is their sincere aim to advance the standards of area schools in the teaching of physical education, and in doing so, advance the educational quality of all students.

Senior Players

Roger Campbell

Roger, a 6'0" guard from Chatteroy, West Virginia, has proven himself at Pikeville College in the last four years. Roger is one of the best defensive guards in the league. As he is better known to most of the students, "Squirrel" will remain in the hearts of the fans for years to come.

Richard Maynard

Richard has proven himself especially on the backboards. He is a great rebounder and pivot man. In his senior year he led the nation's small colleges in field goal percentage and was the team's leading rebounder. The Big 25 will be missed on the court.

The Bears in Practice

MANAGER: David McBrayer

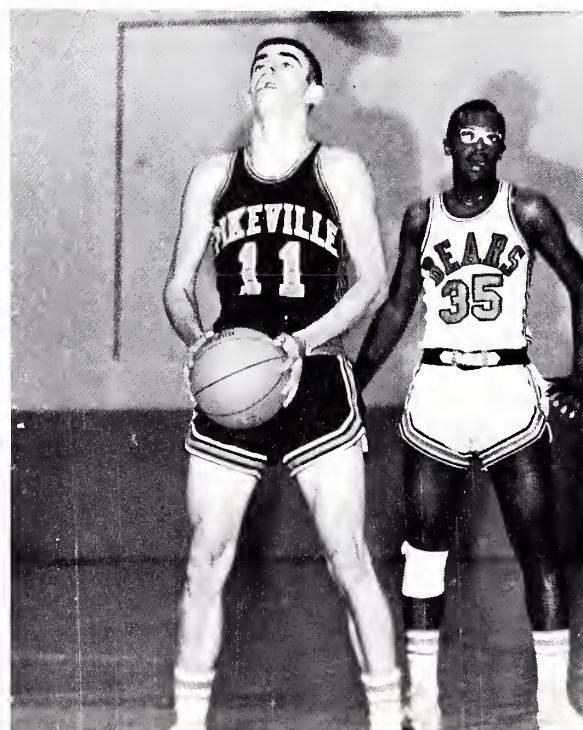

The ball is up for grabs!

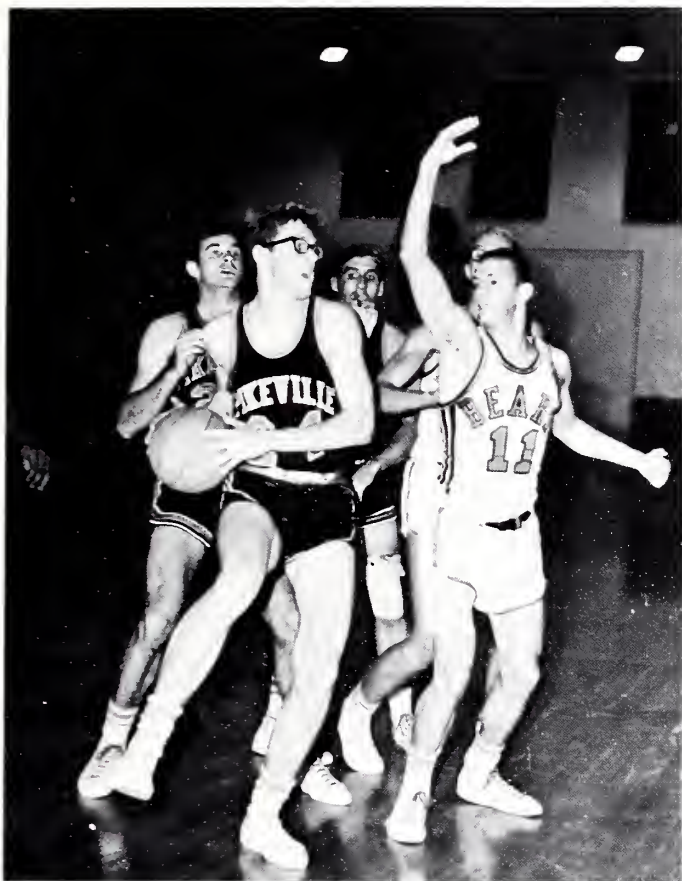

Bendure stretches for the ball.

The Pikeville Bears find some of their hardest competition to be with each other during practice sessions at the gym. It's only a taste of what they found on the floor against scheduled opponents.

Butcher takes a breather!

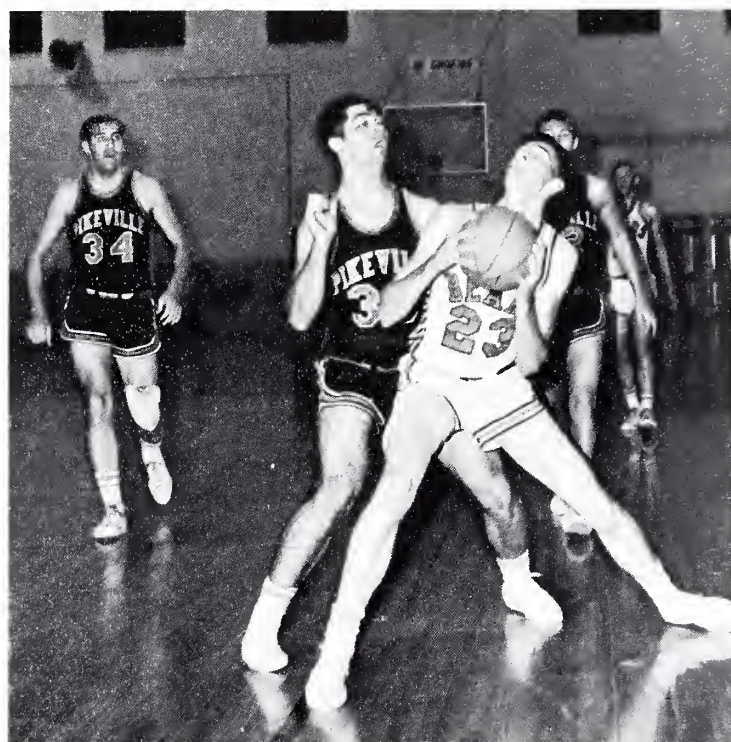

"Clyde" says the ball is his!

Knock Down—Drag Out!

Danny fakes Turner and . . .

. . . Goes up for the shot.

The Queen's Dance

Perhaps the most special season of the year is Christmas. And what is Christmas without a special girl, a special place, and a special event?

It seems that the "Frug" was enjoyed by all at the Christmas dance even PC basketball star Richard Maynard and his date joined in the action. And true to spirit, the faculty were right there—doing their best to outdance them all!

A gala tradition on Pikeville College's campus is that of Homecoming. Outstanding for its show of college beauty, Homecoming spotlights the lady of ladies and makes her its queen. Pikeville College's 1968 Homecoming was honored with the crowning of Miss Shelby Stanley as queen. No finer salute could have been given any queen than that given Queen Shelby as pictured in the parade below.

Being selected to represent the college in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities is an honor that any senior student would be proud to have. The honorees are selected because of their academic standing and for their participation in various activities. To be eligible one must have achieved a cumulative average of 3.00, and have been active in at least two college organizations.

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities

An English major with an immense love for drama is Miss Janet Marie Combs. Janet, who is a native of Elizabeth, Indiana, has worked with Peach Orchard Players for four years, served as vice-president of SNEA, and was secretary of Alpha Mu Gamma, honorary language society. Her future plans include teaching in the Indiana School System.

Janet Marie Combs

Miss Terry Hilsheimer is an elementary major from Dayton, Ohio. Being quite interested in music, Terry has participated in both the concert band and choir for four years. She is with the percussion group of the band. She is also a member of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history fraternity.

Terry Anne Hilsheimer

Theodora (Teddie) Higgins Smith McBrayer

A native of Raceland, Ky., Mrs. Theodora H. Smith McBrayer professes a love for English and music. She has completed a major in English, having done special work in American Literature. Theodora has also been very active in band during her college years. She is married to David McBrayer, also of Raceland.

Once Upon a Mattress

"Once Upon a Mattress" there was a lonely young prince and so Peach Orchard Players proceeded to tell his story and how he came to discover the world of love despite his mother's interference.

The musical was presented during the first semester of college activity. "Once upon a Mattress" was an acclaimed success for POP and the Music Department.

Honors Program

Through the efforts of visiting professor Dr. W. Leslie Garnett, Pikeville College saw the beginning of an honors program. The program involved twenty incoming freshmen who received a scholarship along with special classes in the humanities. The honors program, under instructions of Dr. C. P. Jones, Dr. Richard McConnell and Dr. LeRoy Lindsay, was instigated with the purpose of accelerating studies among students who are above average in their high school work.

Pottery Studio

Another visiting instructor, Mrs. Meredith Horton, was the innovator who turned part of PC's old training school into a pottery studio. The studio was considered a haven for students who wished to show their creativity. The classes were open to faculty as well as students.

Playwright

One of PC's most renowned figures is librarian Bruce B. Brown. Mr. Brown is quite popular among poets and dramatists alike. His main work however, lies in the field of drama, having had his play, "Broken Pots," recently open in Boston.

Chapel Programs

As an added intellectual stimulant to the academic circle of PC, the chapel programs lend themselves to the presentation of timely and controversial topics. Perhaps one of the most important subjects of our times is communism. This challenging problem of the democratic world was recently discussed at PC by the renowned anti-communist worker, Herbert Philbrick. Philbrick, once a professed leader of the Party, reported his activities as an under-cover agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Antoine Medgysey, a famed European artist, graced Pikeville College with a fine showing of his art works. Pictured as he really is, deeply involved with others, Medgysey's paintings prove that his true talent lies in his ability to instill a quality of realness in his work.

Concert Series

PC is indeed fortunate in having such outstanding programs as those presented in conjunction with Pikeville's Concert Association. This organization has county wide participation and is enjoyed not only by PC students but by Pikeville's citizens as well.

The series enjoys a year long season beginning in the Fall and lasting until the Spring semester ends. During the 1967-68 running the concert series presented such outstanding artists as dancer Colleen Corkre, and famed musicians, the Clebanoff Strings (Both pictured.)

Other entertainment for the season included such artists as: Jack and Sally Jenkins, Louisville Bach Society, and University of Pittsburgh Men's Glee Club.

The Pike's Men on the Scene

1968

Look around campus—and any place at all you are likely to see one of “our men”. That is you will probably see either Howard Hoover or Thomas Storrar, hard at work or discussing some student's problems.

Howard Hoover is a friendly man easy to please and eager to help. His activities range from annual advisor to president's assistant to student's friend.

It's almost unbelievable that Thomas Storrar can work so hard to feed so many students, and still remain the likeable person he is. One would tend to think that he enjoys his work almost as much as PC enjoys his food and his smile, not to mention all those special parties.

So look around . . . any place . . . any season. You will probably see them. “The Pike's Men on the Scene for '68” are always where PC's happenings are—everywhere.

One hundred and seventy-nine seniors marched to their seats in the college gymnasium before an assemblage of friends and relatives to receive their long-awaited degrees—a scene which has been enacted many times, but this time it was different. It was a personalized moment for the 1968 graduates of Pikeville College.

Like others before them, they face age-old problems which defy solution. Perhaps the most frustrating of all is the question of man's brotherhood. Reminding the graduates of this was the Reverend Dr. Joseph Bishop, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Rye, New York, in his address, "The New Morality". In placing the responsibility on their shoulders, he said, "We are responsible for our brothers and cannot get away from the responsibility of misery and uneasiness about us. We no longer can remain static when our fellowman is being treated unjustly."

1968 Graduates — Are You Your Brother's Keeper?

Education cannot be progressive without the continuing aid and support of interested individuals. Being honored for their contributions to the educational field, and especially for their efforts to aid Pikeville College, were: The Reverend Dr. Joseph Bishop, honorary Doctor of Divinity degree; J. C. Blount, Jr., honorary Doctor of Laws degree; and Congressman Carl D. Perkins, honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

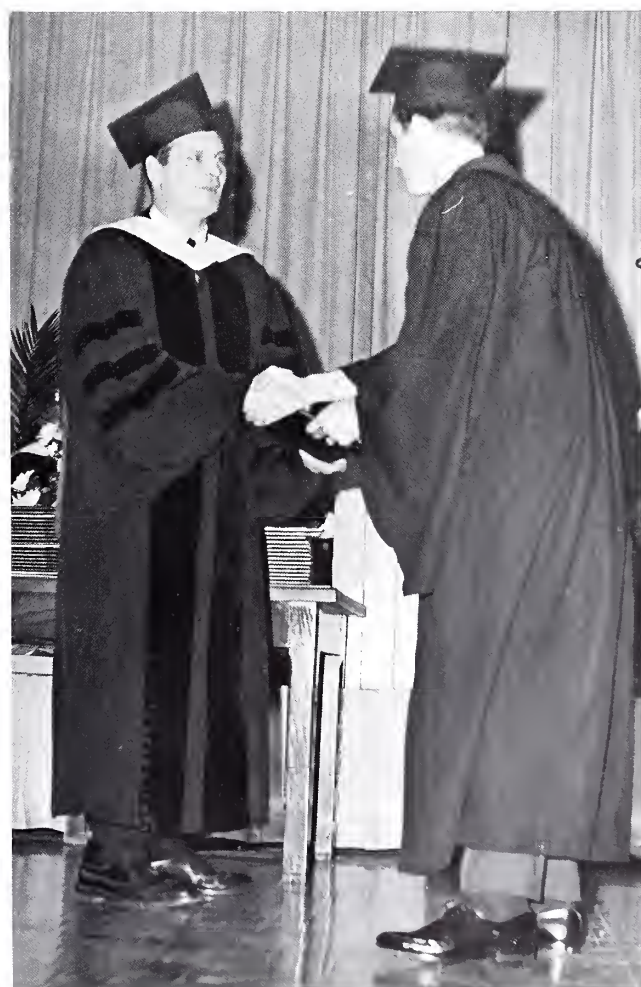

One of the most prized awards at graduation is the W. C. Condit watch which is given to the senior with the highest grade point standing. Presented with the watch this spring was Miss Shirley Louise Sexton, of Pikeville. Second in class standing was Mrs. Joella Craft Collier, also of Pikeville.

MAGNA CUM LAUDE and CUM LAUDE GRADUATES

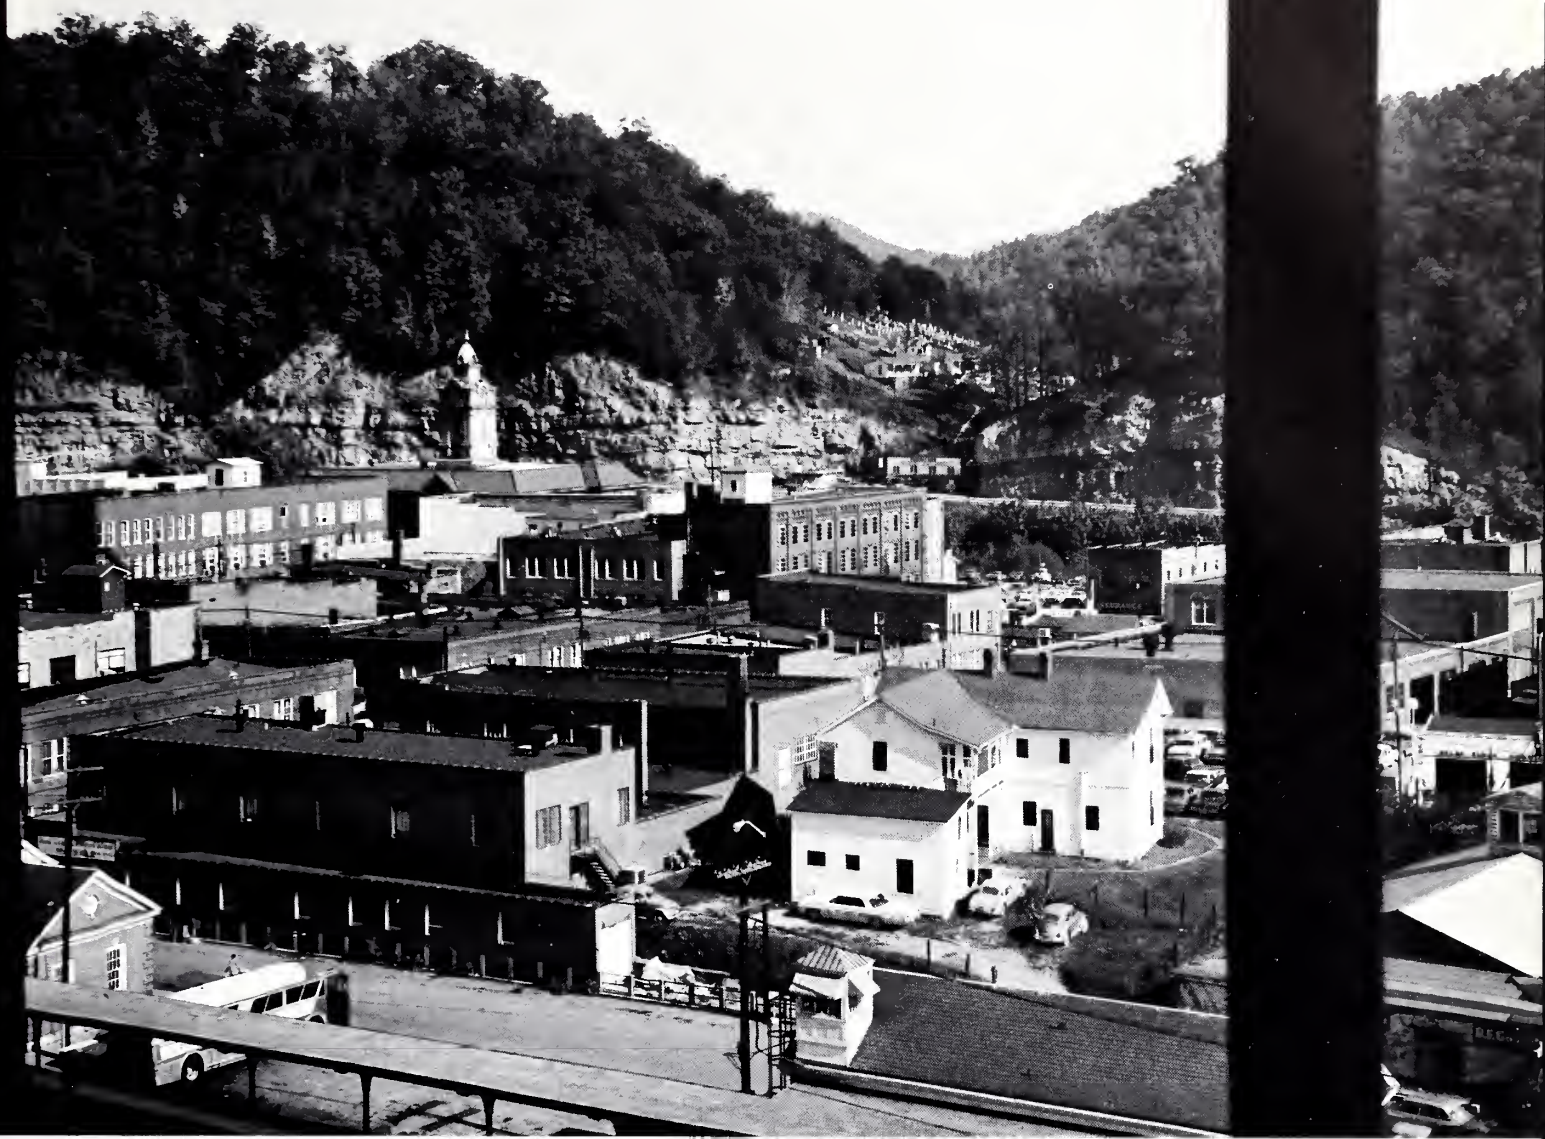

A degree, be it Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science, is the seemingly unattainable goal of the entering freshman but the length of "interminable time" is too swiftly passed for the graduating senior.
